July 2012

Hello Friends!

Summertime is finally here for us in Western Canada. It's a time, here in the northern hemisphere, when some blossoms have already come and gone, some are in full colourful bloom and some just budding and waiting their turn to bloom. It's also a time when we plant seeds and plants that will bloom much later on.

What is blossoming for you? What seeds are you planting to nurture and grow? Summertime, for many of us, is a time for holiday and a time for 'planting' and nurturing ideas and next steps.

There is so much that is new for me right now. Of course, a lot of it has been 'growing' for some time. Here's what's blooming:

Email - info@rachelintuitivehealer.com

You Tube Video - Watch me meet my birth Mum, whom I hadn't seen since I was weeks old. YouTube link:

Job! - Real Deal Psychics for phone healings/sessions.

Home :) - Soon we'll be at our beautiful new house in Lion's Bay overlooking the ocean.

Channelled Message from Jesus - check out news.

Every one of these 'blooms' I nurtured by connecting deeply and following my gut feelings, intuition, signs and messages. I now know that I don't actually have to try and do anything, I just let go of control and let the Universe show me the way.

Our wonderful path is already there for us, all we have to do is to get out of our own way and practise connecting to, trusting and following our higher selves, our inner wisdom and of course, God, our angels, guides and departed family. When we do this, miracles happen and we create heaven here on earth and oneness with all of life. For this is what we truly are.

Relax, enjoy summer and I invite you to give letting go a chance. You'll be amazed at what can happen. Oh yes, happy planting to! Remember I'm here to help you connect, let go and let your wonderful life unfold. Here are some offerings and special deals:
